

Contents

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I. INTRODUCTION

- Miklós Sükösd and Péter Bajomi-Lázár: The Second Wave of Media Reform in East Central Europe* 13

II. REINVENTING MEDIA SYSTEMS

- Alina Mungiu-Pippidi: From State to Public Service: The Failed Reform of State Television in Central Eastern Europe* 31

- Ireneusz C. Kamiński: Applying Western Media Law Standards in East Central Europe* 63

- Péter Bajomi-Lázár: Press Freedom in Hungary, 1998—2001* 85

- Izabella Karłowicz: The Difficult Birth of the Fourth Estate: Media Development and Democracy Assistance in the Post-Conflict Balkans* 115

- Mihály Szilágyi-Gál: Press Coverage of the EU and NATO Accession Processes in Hungary and Romania in the 1990s* 137

III. MINORITIES AND MEDIA REFORM

- Beata Klimkiewicz: Media Policy for Ethnic and National Minorities in Poland, the Czech Republic and Slovakia* 155

- Tivadar Magyari: Hungarian Minority Media in Romania: Toward a Policy of Professional Improvement* 185

Arturas Tereskinas: Toward a New Politics of Citizenship: Representations of Ethnic and Sexual Minorities in Lithuanian Mass Media	203
Gavril Flora: Improving Media Access for the Hearing-Impaired in Romania and Hungary	239
IV. CONTRIBUTORS	259
V. INDEX	265